

ABSTRACT

The invention relates to surgical bone cement compositions and more particularly to bone cement compositions having anaesthetic properties, and to methods for producing analgesia.